Note: We will walk around a garden; walking shoes are recommended, please avoid high heels. When entering buildings, make sure to wear socks.

Namikawa Cloisonne Museum of Kyoto: A small but enchanting museum housed in the former residence of Yasuyuki Namikawa (1845-1927). Discover cloisonne - the craft of decorating metal objects with colored enamel - in Namikawa's studios, and enjoy the restful atmosphere of the well preserved gardens with their hidden sculptures, pond and greenery.

Junsei Restaurant: Lunch in a traditional restaurant serving Kyoto's cuisine Yudofu where able to visit registered cultural property Junsei Shoin historic with lovely Japanese strolling gardens.

Murin-an: Japanese garden and villa built by political and military leader Yamagata Aritomo between 1894 and 1898. It is an example of a classical Japanese promenade garden of the Meiji Period. The gardens are considered to be a masterpiece of modern Japanese 'naturalist' garden design, using the surrounding mountain landscapes and rivers to produce a sense of dynamic movement. We will listen to a talk in the house and then take time to walk through the gardens.
